

Waterbury Republican-American - Thursday, November 20, 2008
Hospitals go smoke free to mark Great American Smokeout

Saint Mary's and Waterbury hospitals are among those in the state that will mark the Great American Smokeout today by going smoke free. While smoking has been banned inside the hospitals, there have been designated areas where people could light up outside. That will change. Both hospitals are providing help for employees who want to quit.