Newsweek ranks Yale New Haven Hospital top in the state for maternity care

New Haven, CT (May 25, 2022) – Newsweek released its annual list of the best maternity hospital in the US and Yale New Haven Hospital (YNHH) was the only hospital in Connecticut to receive the top – five ribbon – ranking.

The 2022 ratings are based on three data sources: a national online survey of hospital managers and maternity healthcare professionals who were asked to recommend top maternity hospitals; hospital performance data related to maternity care; and patient satisfaction data.

“We are delighted to be recognized by Newsweek,” said Hugh Taylor, MD, chief of Obstetrics and Gynecology, YNHH and chair of Obstetrics, Gynecology & Reproductive Sciences, Yale School of Medicine. “Yale New Haven Hospital has always been focused on providing top quality, family-centered care, from pregnancy to the birth experience to home. This recognition validates what our doctors, midwives, nurses and the rest of our team already feel – we provide the best care for mothers and their newborns.”

Yale New Haven Hospital (YNHH), part of Yale New Haven Health, is a nationally recognized, 1,541-bed, not-for-profit hospital serving as the primary teaching hospital for the Yale School of Medicine (YSM). Founded as the fourth voluntary hospital in the U.S. in 1826, today, YNHH has two New Haven-based campuses, and also includes Yale New Haven Children's Hospital, Yale New Haven Psychiatric Hospital and Smilow Cancer Hospital. YNHH has received Magnet designation from the American Nurses Credentialing Center, the nation's highest honor of nursing excellence. YNHH has a combined medical staff of about 4,500 university and community physicians practicing in more than 100 specialties. www.ynhh.org
