Trinity Health Of New England's provider practices now called Trinity Health Of New England Medical Group
Renamed practices include Saint Francis Medical Group and related specialty practices

HARTFORD Conn. – Trinity Health Of New England, an integrated health care delivery system comprised of world-class providers and facilities dedicated to the full spectrum of preventive, acute and post-acute care, today announced that all of its employed provider practices have been renamed Trinity Health Of New England Medical Group.

Locally, this includes the medical practices affiliated with Saint Francis Hospital and Medical Center, including all Saint Francis Medical Group locations throughout the greater Hartford area, as well as related specialty practices.

"We have been evolving into a true regional health system since Trinity Health Of New England was established in 2015," said Reginald J. Eadie, M.D., M.B.A, president and CEO, Trinity Health Of New England. "This evolution is happening at every level; bringing our employed medical practices together under the Trinity name is part of the process. We want our patients and their families, as well as our providers and staff, to experience one culture based on exceptional and inspired care, no matter where they meet us."

Trinity Health Of New England Medical Group also includes provider practice locations throughout Connecticut affiliated with Saint Mary's Hospital in Waterbury and those in western Massachusetts affiliated with Mercy Medical Center.

"While our practice names have changed, our Mission, core values and vision—providing high-quality care, cutting-edge technology and an inspiring patient experience—remain the same," said Richard Shuman, M.D., president, Medical Groups and Provider Services, Trinity Health of New England. "We will continue serving our communities in Connecticut and western Massachusetts, but as a single organization that has come together united by our commitment to our patients and communities."
